To Whom It May Concern:

Shrikant Devre has been working as a contract Microsoft .NET Developer with the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority for six weeks. He started at the Authority on October 7th, 2014 and will be completing his engagement on November 14th, 2014. The Authority has engaged his services through TEKSystems, Inc.

Shrikant has had a variety of assignments while at the Authority including:

- Modifications to existing VB.net code base, Extract, Transform, and Load applications (SSIS), and stored procedures to support an upgrade project for the database platform on existing applications from Microsoft SQL Server 2005 to Microsoft SQL Server 2012.
- Modifications to existing VB.net code base in internally developed web based applications to support the implementation and roll-out of new corporate logos and branding.
- Completed the development of an internally developed application that included finalization of the user interface and Implementation of security roles into an internally developed VB.net application through the use of integrated Windows security and Active Directory.
- Analysis and documentation of existing Extract, Transform, and Load (SSIS) applications to complete documentation of scheduled ETL jobs to help support cross-training of IT and business unit staff.

As the manager of the Application Development & Support Team at the Authority, I provided Shrikant with all of his assignments.

Sincerely,

Erik Larson
